HISTORY

They're on a mission from Nature, they adore the Verdejo grape variety and their goal is to restore their vineyards to an original state of grace. These are the Sanz siblings, who with five generations of viticulturalist and winemakers behind them, launched their very own project in 2005: Menade. If you look hard, you'll spy them immersed in the stony terrain of their estate doing their level best in and for their own very particular environment, where, with their team, they've managed to recover a biodiversity and nature-scape all too rare in Castilla y León not only thanks to its harsh climatic conditions but due to human shortcomings. Restlessly inquisitive, spontaneous, inventive, and unafraid of breaking boundaries; their Wines are a clear reflection of their quest for quality, natural expression, terroir, and personality.
